The Problem:

Pulaski Lake is a 180-acre lake in Rusk County, Town of Washington. Due to the excessive fishing pressure that it receives during the winter and summer, the panfish population has been drastically depleted during the past few years. Pulaski Lake is now in danger of over-harvesting for top quality size panfish. After discussing the problem with most of the current property owners on the lake, we feel that something must be done.

Whereas, In order to build and maintain Pulaski Lake as a quality fishery for generations to come, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, the Conservation Congress at its annual meeting held in Rusk County on April 10, 2006, recommends that the Department of Natural Resources take action to correct this situation by introducing rules to reduce the bag limit of panfish on Pulaski Lake, Rusk County, from 25 fish to 10 fish.
